

1 Oz. Gold Canadian Maple Leaf

Pure Treasure from the Royal Canadian Mint

1 Oz. Gold Canadian Maple Leaf

The Royal Canadian Mint is known for its pure, high quality, distinctive coins, particularly its Gold Canadian Maple Leaf. The first coins of this series were 99.9% pure. Gold Royal Canadian Maple Leaf coins since then have been even purer – 99.99% for most coins, with the “five nines” or 99.999% purity used for several special issue coins.

On the obverse of the coin, a profile of Queen Elizabeth II of Canada takes center stage. The Gold Canadian Maple Leaf coin was first minted in 1979 with the image of Queen Elizabeth II shown at the age of 39. This profile was updated in 1993 to show the Queen at 64 years old and then again in 2005 to show the 79-year-old Queen. A large maple leaf with finely drawn details is featured on the reverse of this gold bullion coin. The maple leaf is known around the globe as a symbol of Canada’s heritage and pride.

On the reverse of all the Gold Maple Leaf coins, the content of Fine Gold and the weight of 1 oz. Or Pur are featured below the maple leaf. The purity can be seen on each side of the maple leaf of the reverse, with .999 for the common date coins and .9999 for coins such as the 2015 and 2016 1 oz. Gold Canadian Maple Leaf coins. The .999 common date Gold Maple Leaf coins feature their date and face value of $50 on the obverse side, below the Queen’s portrait.

Gold Canadian Maple Leaf coins are among the purest gold coins in the world. As a bonus, they are made by one of the most respected mints anywhere.

When the coin was released in 1979, the only other gold bullion coin on the global market was the South African Krugerrand. The Krugerrand was 22-karat, while the Maple Leaf was 24-karat pure gold.

In 2013 and 2015, the RCM added features to make the Gold Canadian Maple Leaf one of the most secure coins in the world. Micro-engraving is used to create a maple leaf privy mark showing the year, such as "15" for the 2015 Gold Canadian Maple Leaf coin. The privy mark is only visible under magnification.

Radial lines machined by the RCM add another layer of security on both the obverse and reverse of this .9999 pure gold coin. All Gold Canadian Maple Leaf coins from the RCM are backed by the Canadian government. The 2015 Gold Canadian Maple Leaf Brilliant Uncirculated has all the features of the 2016 listed above and has never been in circulation.

Several special edition Gold Canadian Maple Leaf coins are available. They include commemorative coins as well as hologram coins.
